Money Matters Series 2006

Risk Management: "Are you living dangerously… and don't know it?"

Wednesday, 25 January 2006, 5.30pm to 7.00pm

"Our most basic instinct is not for survival but for family. Most of us would give our own life for the survival of a family member, yet we lead our daily life too often as if we take our family for granted." ~Paul Pearshall

Workshop Objectives

You are either worried sick over the 'what ifs' in life or you have not given it any thought at all. Either way, you will suffer a big financial blow when the 'what ifs' strike you unprepared.

Are you over or under-insured? Should you mix savings and investments with your insurance?

This workshop looks at how much coverage you really need and whether your existing policies suit you.

About this Series

Lawyers invest in developing expertise in their areas of practice, but when it comes to financial planning - be it for themselves or their firms - most do not have the expertise, much less the time. What can lawyers do to make sure that their hard work does not go to waste? How can they ensure they save enough for a comfortable retirement? Are they taking too little or too much risk? How should they manage their firm's cash flow to ensure it stays afloat and thrives?

This new Personal Development Workshop Series aims to address all these questions and more, without the technical jargon. Best of all, each Workshop is structured to be practical and easily digestible so you can immediately apply the lessons leant to make a difference in your personal financial management.

Invest in yourself today!

Coming up in the Series:
Tax Planning & Education funds.
